

Isaac Butts is a passionate speaker and mentor, dedicated to empowering the next generation of leaders. Over the past decade, Isaac has been recognized as a trusted advisor, playing a pivotal role in developing both current and future leaders across the USA. His expertise has been sought by numerous organizations, such as Providence Healthcare, Department of Energy, Benton County, and National and Statewide Association, to name a few, where he provides strategic guidance, training, and motivation to help others unlock their potential. Isaac has also planted himself in the youth and educational space. He travels around the country speaking in schools, working with staff and students to help them recognize each other's worth and build strong cultures that can create brighter futures!

As the first African American Vice President of Marketing for a National Healthcare Group, Isaac demonstrated his commitment to excellence and his ability to break barriers, inspiring others to do the same. His diverse experience across various fields equips him with the skills to elevate leadership, performance, and self-belief.

Together with his wife Jessica, they parent their two sons, Isaiah and Judah, and have recently accepted a new role as a guardian to their niece, Makenlie. Both also run a nonprofit organization that has invested over $50,000 in the future of students in their home region. Their efforts have empowered countless young people by providing access to leadership & growth opportunities nationwide.

Isaac is also the author of the children's book "I CAN & I WILL", and a student focused book "A Walk in My Shoes".
